DEPARTMENT OF ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE AND MACHINE LEARNING

"Public Speaking"

Resource Person: Mrs. Della and Mr. Karthik, Aerodynamik, Mumbai

Venue: AIML department classroom number 201

Total Number of Students Attended: 47

Date and Timings: 14/06/2023; 11:00 AM to 1:00 AM

There were two batches of students. Mr. Karthik trained one batch, and Mrs. Della trained the other batch.

In order to interact and communicate with team members and audiences, the trainer informed students that the majority of employment functions and sectors demand public speaking. Although speaking in front of an audience might be nerve-wracking, this skill set creates a more capable and desirable employee. Understanding the value of public speaking may assist to develop plans for skill development and ensuring that one is able to communicate effectively in the job. Additional trainer added: Keeping eye contact with the audience, moving about the stage, and using hand gestures to illustrate points are all ways to project confidence, the trainer advised the pupils. Avoid over-rehearsing and instead, be genuine. Additionally, avoid ignoring or disrespecting your audience. Avoid lying.

Outcome: Public speaking enables to connect, have an impact on choices, and inspire change. Without effective communication abilities, it would be very difficult to advance professionally or in daily life.
